

PRESS RELEASE

Enfocus Software Announces Enhancing Your PDF Workflow Seminar Series for Designers, Printers & Publishers

May 11, 2005 - San Mateo, CA – Enfocus Software, the world leader in PDF quality management solutions for the graphic arts industry, announces Enhancing Your PDF Workflow seminar series. Enfocus is hosting the free seminars in key cities throughout the U.S. beginning June 15.

This educational, free, full-day event will focus on real-world problems and solutions associated with PDF workflows. Presented by industry experts James Lockman and Tim Plumer of Working Words & Graphics, Enhancing Your PDF Workflow seminar will advise attendees on the best ways to streamline PDF workflows from start to finish. Learn how to put together an effective Do-It-Yourself PDF workflow, or how to enhance your existing PDF workflow, from the industry experts. ARTS PDF, makers of PDF tools including the award-winning Crackerjack, will also be represented in the workflow overview and discussion.

Enhancing Your PDF Workflow is ideal for design professionals, commercial printers, quick printers, and publishers who are tired of having problems working with PDF files, and who want to improve their PDF workflows. Attendees will learn how to:

- Identify and fix problem PDF files
- Effectively communicate with business partners throughout the workflow process
- Learn Tips and Tricks using Adobe Acrobat 7 and Enfocus PitStop Professional
- Speed up production with Certified PDF technology

Enhancing Your PDF Workflow dates and locations include:

- Chicago, IL - June 15
- Minneapolis, MN - June 16
- Kansas City, MO - June 20
- Cincinnati, OH - June 22
- Philadelphia, PA - June 24
- Denver, CO - June 27
- Austin, TX - June 29

Enfocus: Enhancing Your PDF Workflow Seminar Series...2/2

After working as an Application Engineer at Adobe, Tim developed and led his own printing software integration and training company in Portland, Maine. Currently, he and business partner James Lockman provide graphic arts technical solutions through Working Words. Working Words provides the hardware, software, and services that help any digital communications company become, and remain, productive and profitable in today's highly competitive marketplace.

James is the Director of Operations at Working Words & Graphics. James has been using PDF in his own print workflow since joining Working Words in 1995. He is known in the Northeast as the “go to” guy to solve problems with any digital imaging issue. As an early PDF adopter and evangelist, he has seen just about everything that might derail a PDF-based print project. This experience allows him to solve problems quickly and cost-effectively. He is also a technical resource for printers, equipment suppliers, brokers and graphic designers.

Working Words prides itself in applications support, and has even been making film separations from MS Publisher since version 2.0. Working Words adopted InDesign as its design platform in version 1.0 and has never looked back.
